

Humanitarian Action

At the Feinsein International Center, we promote the use of evidence and learning in operational and policy responses to protect and strengthen the lives, livelihoods, and dignity of people affected by or at risk of humanitarian crises. Although most of us are working remotely this semester, we would still like to engage with students interested in humanitarian action. Here are some ways you can get involved:

You can take classes with our Feinsein faculty at Fletcher and Friedman, including:

- Climate and Migration with Professor and Research Director Karen Jacobsen (Fall 2020)
- Humanitarian Action with Professor and Research Director Dan Maxwell (Fall 2020)
- Gender, Culture and Conflict in Complex Humanitarian Emergencies with Professor and Research Director Dyan Mazurana and Research Director and Assistant Research Professor Liz Stites. (Fall 2020)
- Humanitarian Leadership: The Political and Policy Challenges of Being in Charge with Feinsein Center Director Greg Gottlieb (Spring 2021); International Humanitarian Response (Spring 2021), Harvard/Tufts course.

You can stay informed about the exciting research we are working on, upcoming events, and potential opportunities, such as summer research funding by:

- Checking out our website, where you will find our research projects and publications
- Signing up for our newsletters:
  - Feinsein email list for information about publications and events.
  - Friends of Feinsein for monthly updates about our activities
- Following us on social media:
  - <https://twitter.com/FeinseinIntCen>
  - <https://www.facebook.com/fic.tufts/>

All the faculty, researchers, and staff at the Center look forward to getting to know you!

Have a great semester!
