The University of British Columbia invites applications for a full-time faculty position at the rank of Instructor (tenure track) commencing July 1, 2018. This position is based in the Food, Nutrition and Health (FNH) program in the Faculty of Land and Food Systems (www.landfood.ubc.ca). The successful candidate will be expected to instruct up to 18 credits of courses, including the existing food science laboratory courses (FNH 325, FNH 326, and FNH 425). Additional duties include supervising undergraduate student research projects, and responsibility for the annual Food Science program accreditation. The Instructor will also be required to demonstrate educational leadership related to teaching and curriculum development for the Food Science Majors and provide service to the Program, Faculty, and University.

Applicants must have a Ph.D. in Food Science or related field and be able to demonstrate in-depth knowledge in food analysis, food chemistry, food microbiology and food processing. The successful candidate must have potential for excellence in teaching, education innovation, and educational leadership.

Applications must be made through the University of British Columbia's Human Resources online careers page (www.facultycareers.ubc.ca/28186). Applicants are required to send a cover letter, curriculum vitae, three reference letters, your vision of educational leadership and an outline of your plan to implement your vision (up to 2 pages), and a teaching dossier (up to 10 pages, describing your teaching philosophy, evidence of effectiveness and initiatives in teaching, innovative teaching approaches, and a sample syllabus for a course you may develop). If you have specific questions about the application process, please contact the Chair of the Search Committee c/o melanie.train@ubc.ca. Review of applications will start on January 15, 2018 until the position is filled.

This is a tenure-track position within UBC's teaching stream (Instructor, Senior Instructor, and Professor of Teaching). For information on the review process and criteria for each of these ranks, please see Article 3, Parts 2-4 of the Collective Agreement between UBC and the UBC Faculty Association (http://www.hr.ubc.ca/faculty-relations/collective-agreements/appointment-faculty/).

UBC hires on the basis of merit and is committed to employment equity. We encourage all qualified persons to apply. In accordance with Canadian immigration requirements, priority will be given to Canadian citizens and permanent residents of Canada. We especially welcome applications from members of visible minority groups, women, Aboriginal persons, persons with disabilities, persons of minority sexual orientations and gender identities, and others with the skills and knowledge to engage productively with diverse communities.
